

McCoy applies for liquor license

by Jeff Nazzaro

In what Selectman Chairman Michael McCoy deemed a "bad judgment call," the Wilmington Board of Health voted unanimously Monday night to recommend denial of a liquor license for Michael's Place, the Lowell Street restaurant owned by McCoy.

"The board of health made a serious, serious mistake," McCoy stated.

But McCoy will get a chance to offer his side of things at a board of health meeting scheduled for July 5. At that time, the board may vote to change its recommendation if it is presented with more favorable data, according to Chairman Dr. James Ficociello.

"We weren't favorably impressed by any of the data," Ficociello said of Michael's Place water usage figures provided by Public Health Director Gregory Erickson.

The board of health used State DEP Title 5 regulations based on use and design in forming its consensus, Ficociello said.

According to Title 5, currently being targeted for revisions by the DEP, restaurants should septic systems capable of handling 35 gallons per seat per day. Michael's Place has 100 seats, and thus, according to state guidelines should have at least a 3,500 square foot leaching field.

But McCoy maintains his restaurant uses far less water than it is allowed given its 2,100 square foot leaching field.

Following the board of health's recommendation, McCoy did some research of his own. At one gallon per square foot of leaching space, McCoy says his restaurant can use up to 2,100 gallons of water per day.

According to McCoy, figures obtained from the water and sewer department show his restaurant has used 688.5 gallons of water per day over the past 12 months. He says the most water his business he ever consumed in a single quarter was 1,750 gallons per day - something attributed to either a leaky faucet or toilet, according to a registered engineer McCoy hired to evaluate his water usage.

McCoy said he plans to curb water usage at Michael's Place by changing the restaurant's toilets from 5.5 gallon to 1.6 gallon capacity tanks, a move he said will put his business in the category of a four bedroom home in terms of water use.

At 35 gallons per seat per day, McCoy's leaching field is consistent with Title 5 regulations at his previous seating capacity of 60. Despite this, in 1985, Michael's Place was allowed to expand to its current 100 seats by a 2-1 board of health vote swung by Ficociello.

"[The liquor license] is a different request and we're going to take it on its own merits," Ficociello said.

The board of selectmen is the final licensing authority for liquor serving permits in the town. McCoy said he has hired a private attorney to represent him before selectmen.

If granted the license, McCoy said he plans on serving beer, wine and maybe some mixed drinks at Michael's Place, which he has operated since 1984.

The Wilmington High School softball squad celebrates their second consecutive Division 2 State Championship as a relieved coaching staff looks on. The 5-4 win concluded with a play at home plate as center fielder Leanne Harris made a line drive catch and then gunned out a runner attempting to score from third. Freshman catcher Lisa Southmayd applied the tag that preserved the win and the state title for the Wildcats (photo by Dick Dussault).

Wildcat Girls take second state title

by James Pote

Adrienne Fay brought the Wilmington High School softball team within two outs, but center fielder Leanne Harris bailed the star pitcher out with a perfect, one-hop strike to catcher Lisa Southmayd to complete a double play that preserved a 5-4 win over Mount Greylock and brought Wilmington its second consecutive Division Two State Softball Championship.

Saturday afternoon, amidst scorching 105-degree heat, the girls traveled to Spencer, Mass. - the annual neutral site - for the state title game against Mount Greylock in a repeat of last year's title game. Last year Wilmington won by a score of 6-3, with the Mounties scoring two runs in the last inning. This year the girls were leading 5-1 going into the last inning. Another comeback was the last thing on their mind.

Fay was able to get lead-off batter Sherry Tucker to pop-up to catcher Lisa Southmayd. But nine straight pitches later, the bases were loaded via two walks and a hit batsman off what appeared to be a slippery ball. Shortstop Jessica Jackson, representing the top of the Mount Greylock batting order, then smashed a bases clearing double to left. She then advanced to third on an error. Still one out and the tying run now ninety feet away.

Fay's pitching counterpart, Karen Rice, then followed. It couldn't seem any more ironic than that. A base hit for last year's losing pitcher Rice would give the Mounties at least a tie and a chance to avoid a second straight title game loss.

On the first pitch by Fay, Rice drove a line drive to centerfield. Harris started to come in before she noticed the ball was going to sail over her head. She quickly leaped to make a great catch, and in one awkward motion she unloaded a fantastic one-hop rocket to catcher Lisa Southmayd. Southmayd executed a perfect block of home plate as she caught the throw and put the tag on the colliding Jackson, to end any hopes of a miracle comeback for Mount Greylock.

"I thought the ball was right at me. I started to come in and I noticed it was going to go over my head. I just jumped and I felt it go into my glove. The throw felt good leaving my arm. Lisa made a great play," Harris said.

"My heart was in my throat [on the final play]. It was a fantastic play by both Harris and Southmayd. Our defense really played great today as it has the whole season, and that's why we won," expressed ever-joyful Wilmington head coach Paul Lyman.

"Leanne made a great play. I don't know how she ever got such a good throw off. She made a great play and the throw was right to me," said a smiling Lisa Southmayd.

"It was just awesome. The last inning was scary but exciting. It was just awesome to be the state champs once again," said first-baseman and backup pitcher Lindsay Currier.

"It's so exciting. Last year I was in the stands watching the game. I gave my sister [shortstop Laurie] a hug and I never imagined I would be in the same position," continued Southmayd.

Wilmington's defense showed early on why they are the two-time defending State Champs.

Jackson led-off the game with a single up the middle on the first pitch she saw from Fay. She then went to second after an error. The next batter, Karen Rice, then hit a ball in between shortstop Laurie Southmayd and third baseman Nicole Dussault. Southmayd then showed off her range by going to her right, scooping the ball and tagging out Jackson to prevent an early jam.

Wilmington also had chances to score in the first. With Erin Falzone on second after a two-base error, Nancy Pote reached first on a base hit bunt, moving Falzone to third. Pote then walked to second on a delayed steal leaving two runners in scoring position cleanup hitter Fay.

Fay swung at the first pitch she saw, popping-up to second. Harris, Fay's cousin, then put down a suicide squeeze bunt but was thrown out on a close play at first to end the inning.

But Harris exacted her revenge in the third inning on her next at-bat. Once again Falzone and Pote played table setters on second and third. Falzone led off the inning with a base hit, followed by another base hit bunt from Pote, with Falzone taking third when the pitcher fell fielding the ball. As in the first, Pote walked to second. After a quick out, Harris then delivered a two-run double down the left field line, to give the Wildcats the lead for good.

The next inning, the girls' bats were at it again. Nicole Dussault started things off with a walk. Freshman Melissa Palermo then pinch ran for her, promptly swiping second. After Kelly O'Donnell popped-up a bunt attempt, Laurie Southmayd delivered an RBI double to jack the lead to 3-1 after four innings.

Fay led-off the fifth with a hard single up the middle. Sophomore Kristin Roache then ran for her and stole second despite being essentially tackled by Jackson.

Roache then scored on Lisa Southmayd's double, making it 4-1. Southmayd crossed home on a wild pitch to give the Cats a comfortable four run lead.

"It was a great comeback. [Mount Greylock] has nothing to be ashamed of. They are a great team. [The comeback] reminded me a lot of last year. It was a great game from start to finish and that's the way it should have been," Lyman said.

Besides Harris' and Southmayd's game-ending play, Wilmington's defense came up with a few more gems.

Second baseman Nancy Pote made the play of the day in the sixth inning. With a runner at first base and one out, Johnson lifted a pop-up over the head of first baseman Lindsay Currier and into foul ground in short right field. Pote then raced over from second to snare the ball on the dead run. She then whirled and, off-balance, gunned a perfect throw to Dussault, who applied the tag to end the inning.

Moreover, Laurie Southmayd came up with a few more dandies herself. She prevented a sure single bound for left field, making a great play just to get to the ball. She also made another throw out in the fifth when she reached across again to the hole to her right to throw out Greylock's Karen Rice.

Lisa Southmayd also made a few great plays to get out of some other jams for Wilmington. In the fifth inning, Mount Greylock had a runner on third with two outs. Southmayd noticed a big lead and gunned the ball down to Dussault at third to get the runner out on yet another pick off play.

"I wanted to throw down there [at third] the pitch before but the batter was in my way. I then asked Mr. Lyman if I could throw the ball down on the next pitch and he said I could", said the freshman catcher.

"Our defense played really well today. It helped me out a lot," said pitcher Adrienne Fay, who will leave WHS with an amazing 44-2 record.

For the second straight year, Wilmington went up against a tough Mount Greylock team. Once again they came away winners, to put the finishing touches on another championship season.

On that same day, their friends over at Bishop Fenwick - including a couple of young women from Wilmington named Lyman - were winning their fifth consecutive Division One State Title. Can Wilmington do the same? That remains to be seen, but with only two seniors graduation from this year's championship squad, three sure looks like a possibility.

The June 27, 1984 edition of the Town Crier of Wilmington noted that:

A bulldozer was pictured just after making short work of the curriculum center (Center School) Monday morning. The 100 year old building was first built as a high school and later used as an elementary school. The Mildred Rogers School at Silver Lake was scheduled for demolition later in the week.

Bill Brookings of Marcia Road ranked third in the Class of 1984, Austin Prep and was awarded the Cardinal Cushing Scholarship. He was scheduled to attend Merrimack College.

Navy Seaman Apprentice Janet Landry of Mystic Avenue reported for duty at Naval Communications Area Master Station, Norfolk, Va.

Sandra Neimi, a teacher at the West Intermediate School and her son Jason were pictured listening to the WHS Jazz Band and the Intermediate Bands in concert on the common.

Lynette King of Hopkins Street was awarded a varsity letter in softball by Endicott College, Beverly.

PROS AND CONS OF CAPITAL GAINS

Today's higher personal tax rates - 39.6 percent, plus the effect of various phaseouts - have made investments that pay off in capital gains, still taxed at 28 percent, more attractive than ever. But there may be a couple of downside problems that come with the gains.

Investment interest is deductible only to the extent of investment income. But under the new tax law, long-term capital gains do not qualify as investment income. That may mean that borrowing through margin accounts for investment may not be currently deductible. The only way to support an interest deduction would be to forgo the favorable 28 percent tax rate on the capital gains. Check the figures to decide which course is less expensive, giving up the deduction or the tax rate.

Another problem may arise if large amounts of capital gains trigger the AMT. Not only the capital gains but other tax benefits may be affected, such as deductions for state and local income taxes. It may be advisable to take capital losses to offset the gains.

Don't wait until the end of the year for tax planning. See us now at

by Stu Neilson, editor

It is not to disagree with the writer of the letter to which there is no name, but to commend that writer for their concern. However I would like to point out that Officers Shelley and White spent a great deal of their "on duty" time at each of the elementary schools presenting the "Officer Fred" safety program, and a lot of their own personal time helping to plan the Kiwanis Bicycle Safety Ride which was held on June 7.

Over 300 children participated. Photos and articles appeared in the Town Crier for weeks prior to the event and the week after the event. Also there are photos in the Kiwanis Fourth of July Program which appears in the Wilmington Edition of this paper.

A drive around the town will reveal people doing the wrong things, not wearing helmets, not obeying the rules and doing unsafe things. But that same ride will also find many people wearing helmets and being safe, many more than in similar rides in other towns.

A program like the one taken on by the Kiwanis Club and the Wilmington Patrolman's Association (who sponsored the Officer Fred program) takes time. There is a group on Lexington which has been working for five years on a similar project. Drive through Lexington. You will see the results.

Everyone knows that you cannot force a teenager to do anything. Children must be taught to be safe in the elementary grades and at home. This takes time and effort on the part of parents.

If you feel that enough is not being done, then perhaps you could help those who are doing all they can. The Kiwanis Club has taken on a project that is bigger than they are. They need new members who are willing to work to the save lives of bicyclists. Perhaps you might consider joining the club. There are membership requirements: you must be a man or woman. Call the Town Crier, ask for Stu Neilson or during the Fourth of July celebrations ask a Kiwanian. They will be on the Common all during the celebration.

I would be remiss in not acknowledging the tireless work of Kathi & Joe Donato. Their family averted tragedy because the Donato's did as they should. They said to their children, "No helmet, no bike." Their son, Michael put on his helmet, got on his bike, rode out of his drive way, was hit, run over and only scratched up. The helmet saved his life! The Donato's have been the catalyst to inspire the Kiwanis Club. Without them this project might not have started for years.

Silver Lake beach rules

The public beach at Silver Lake provides the town's finest natural recreation resource. Qualified lifeguards supervise the facility from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday through Saturday and noon to 7 p.m. Sunday.

Beach/identification tags may be purchased in the Recreation Department, Room 8, Town Hall, Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and day passes may be purchased at the beach. Out-of-towners may purchase tags too. The beach will open from June 25 through August 28. Call 658-4270.

Rates: Wilmington resident, season pass, $15, 18 and over; $5 child three through 17; day pass, $2 ages three and over; family pass, $35 parents or legal guardians and dependent children; senior citizens (over 65) free.

Non-residents (adjoining towns), season pass, $30, 18 and over; $10 child three through 17; day pass $3, ages three and over; $70 family pass, parents or legal guardians and dependent children.

Rules: Under age three, free; tags are purchased in the recreation office at the town hall; day passes are purchased at the beach and hand stamped; no day pass credit applied to season pass (tag); tags are numbered for id; no refunds.

Lost tags require repurchase at full price; leaving tags at home, etc, requires purchase of day passes; proof of age and residency may be required at beach and/or recreation office; age determined by date of tag purchase; children under 14 must be accompanied by an adult; you must show your own tag for admittance to beach; Wilmington residents and those from adjoining towns may take in paying guests from beyond adjoining towns.

Participating families in the swimming lessons program will not have to purchase tags for use of beach during their lessons.

Just for a laugh ...

Gardeners MUST be crazy!

by Bill Conlon

Of all the hobbies I'm ever taken up, I can't believe the love affair I'm having with gardening. The only question I have is why people think gardening is relaxing? It's not a hobby -- it's an addiction!

Many people think of gardening as a foolproof pursuit. Just toss seeds on the ground and you're gardening. Oh, no! Oh, please!

Gardening is a war, of wills and skills, which requires the delicate timing of a ballerina with the combat skills of a general. There are beachheads to establish and invasions to repel, and everything must be done on a complex and variable timetable.

For openers, the term "dirt simple" is an oxymoron, because dirt is tricky stuff. Are the levels of nitrogen and phosphorus correct? Is there enough organic material to hold water? Does the soil contain too much sand or too much clay? Oh yes, and what is the acidity?

The motion of the sun, and where the shade falls, is vital. Lettuce likes shade in the summer, but tomatoes are happy in full sun. You don't want to put a sunflower where it will block a ground-dweller, so you have to plan, plan and keep planning a garden. Constantly.

There are plants which mature early and there are long-season varieties. Some types take forever, while others are up and out in under 40 days. Which goes where, and when? Think! (We'll forget the custom of planting by the phase of the moon. Too confusing.)

Radishes are up and gone in a month, but celery takes all summer to mature. Carrots are slow, sunflowers are long and tomatoes are variable. Some garden space can be used twice in a growing season, but other spots are dedicated to a single plant, from the last spring frost until autumn. Depends upon what you grow. More confusing still, some plants (like peas and spinach) can't grow in the summer, so choose wisely.

If you're planting pole beans, what variety do you prefer? I favor Kentucky Wonder pole beans over the Blue Lake strain, but that's good for an argument. Lettuce? A dozen types. Tomatoes? At least three dozen, maybe five. I've lost count.

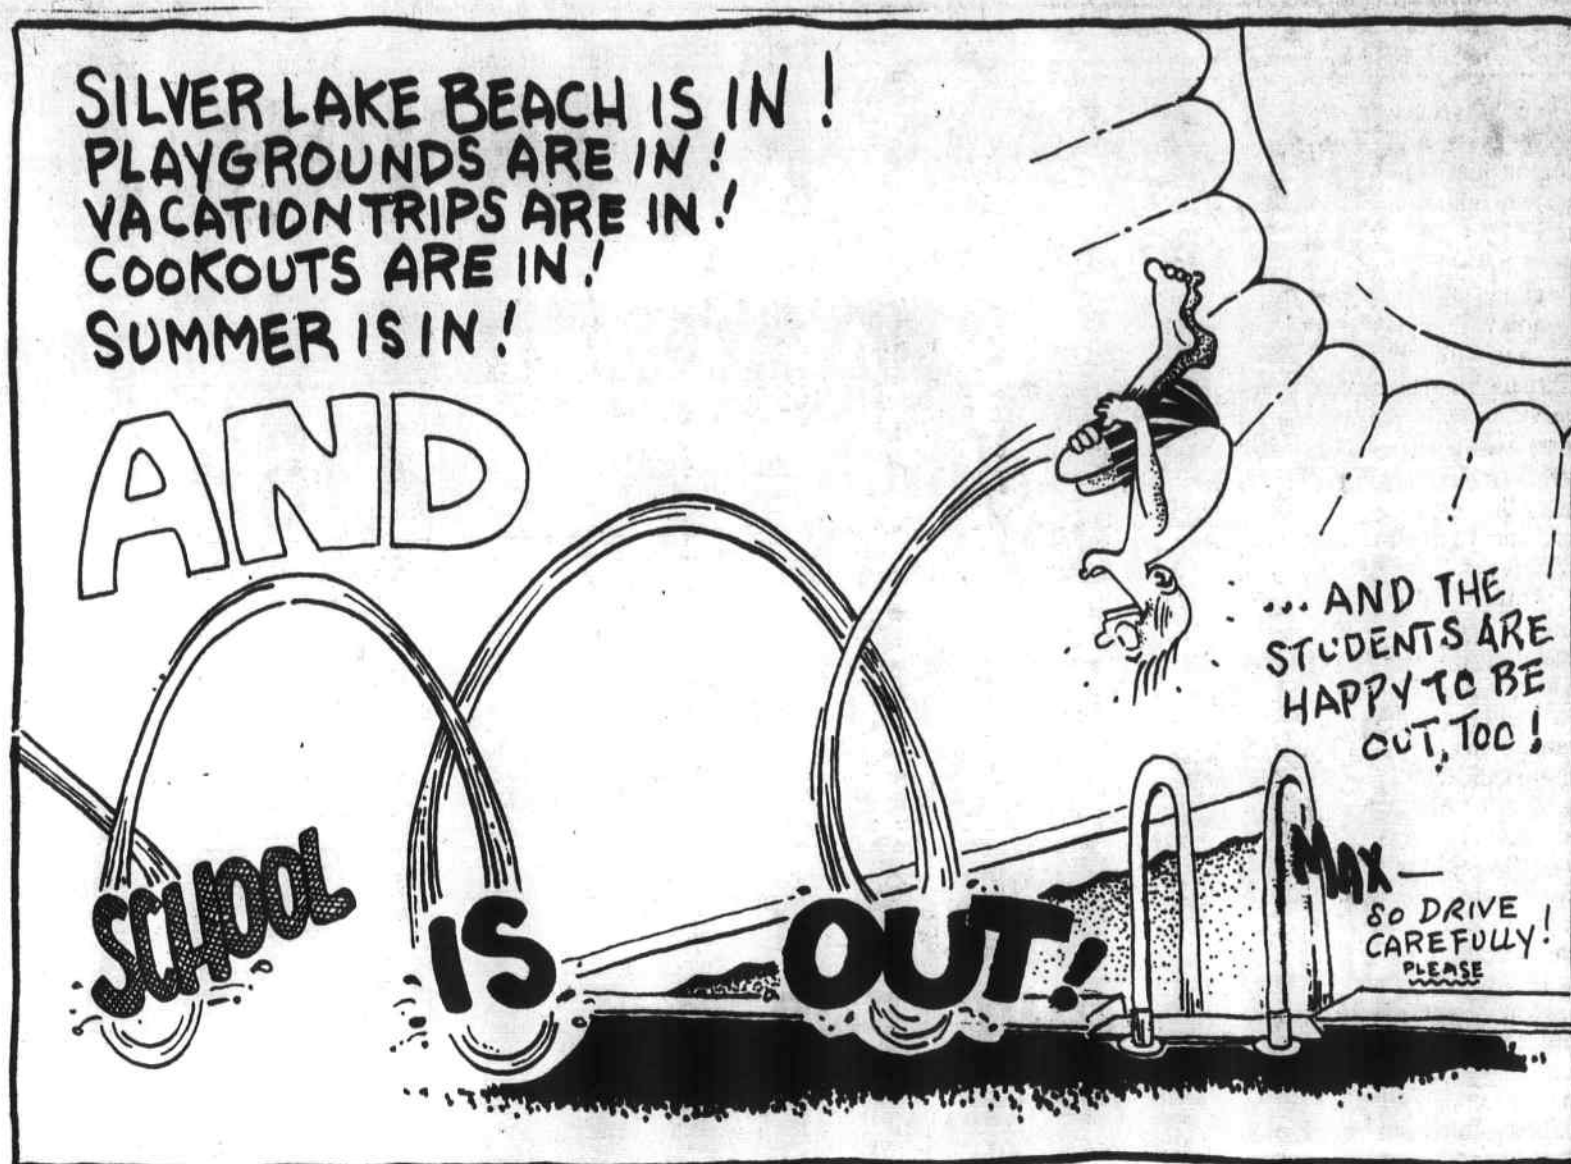

What's wrong? Did you expect to just "grow some tomatoes" in your patch? Get real! Do you want to grow Early Girl, Rutgers, Fantastic, Supersonic, Better Boy, or any of the other hybrids? Yes, there is a difference! And yes, the differences do matter!

If you like peppers, get ready for another blizzard of variety. Do you prefer the green, yellow or red? Bell peppers, Italian, Plum or Cubanelle? Will that be sweet peppers, hot peppers, or Oh-My-God radioactive eye-waterers?

But wait! We haven't started talking bugs yet! New England hosts dozens of pests, from Japanese beetles and Mexican bean beetles to corn borers and tomato hornworms, and they all strike at different times of the year. I supposed I could spray, but I'm skittish about poisons. Besides, I've got a toad that hunts in my garden patch, and I'd rather not risk harming such a wonderful ally.

Nutrients, vegetable hybrids, soil acidity, bugs on the attack and a zillion other factors -- why bother? Gardening is not a game! Because it's fun. It is satisfying in the extreme to munch my own work and know that I can tease Mother Earth into giving me food.

Also, it's relaxing to come home from work after an endless day at work, sit at the edge of my garden, and uproot little crabgrass shoots. Truly calming. At times. At other times, it's ulcerville.

letters to the editor

Dear Larz:

I am writing this letter as a plea to the children of Wilmington. It is exciting for everybody that the days are getting longer and warmer, but the children must remember bicycle safety on the roads in Wilmington.

What happened to the bicycle safety assemblies with Officer Shelley? I can remember being a student at the Woburn Street School and every year Officer Shelley would come in and show us a movie (starring Bill Cosby) and speak to us regarding bicycle safety. If the assemblies are still occurring, which I hope they are, then the children just are not paying attention to what Officer Shelley has to say!

Over the past few weeks, I have seen many children riding their bikes against the traffic. Not only is this a pet peeve of mine, but it's highly dangerous. A cyclist must follow all rules and signs, just as if he were driving a car. Parents should enforce their children to ride their bikes on the right side of the street. Perhaps the police department needs to visit the schools once again before school gets out for the summer just to review and enforce the rules of the road.

Also, is it not a Massachusetts State law that all children under 12 must now wear a helmet? I see very few helmets being worn in town, and it is only common sense to follow this safety measure. If I had children, the rule simply would be: "No helmet, no bike!"

Perhaps I'm over reacting, but please, let's keep Wilmington safe this summer and always.

Sincerely,
Name withheld by request

Dear Larz:

Should all weapons be banned to make our lives safer?

Consider the weighty question our law-makers pondered: Where do all those hot bullets come from? "Barrel of guns, of course."

So, cherchez "le gun," swap it to the rate of 50 of people's bucks a throw and viola, the solution. Weren't they on the money on this one!

Now, on to dealing with the obstreperous gents who want the guns more than they need the money!

We've come to depend on the profound "simplicity" of some of our elected lawmakers, intellectual giants in their own minds to jostle down the momentous riddle: to ban or not to ban.

Yessir Your Honors, ban them all, along with all sharp knives - we have all learned, of recent, what a knife can do (and please, don't forget the syringes, either).

If we must have exceptions - I'd venture - the only knives allowed would be of the kind dispensed at Papa Gino, a threat to the spaghetti, only.

And, while compiling the banning list, if it should please their Honors, be sure not to overlook the scissors, and people with sharp teeth.

Respectfully,
Mico Kaufman

Dear Larz:

I am writing to vehemently complain about the lack of coverage and apparent interest this newspaper took in the recent Wilmington 1994 Good Guy celebration. The Crier is in fact a Wilmington newspaper is it not?? In all previous years there has been a front page spread, why the omission this year? Les White, in his service to this community and its

There's no loss for print space to tout the bad news about one issue or another that makes us angry or upset at our town or its officials? Let's see something about an issue we can all smile about. This guy deserves it.

A surveyor's nightmare

by Capt. Larz Neilson

Born in Wilmington in 1885, Alden N. Eames was a surveyor for the Boston Elevated. Weekends he would work surveying land for his neighbors in Wilmington and was the Wilmington Town Surveyor.

But there was one place in which Alden did not work. The land between Nichols Street and the Tewksbury Town Line was a place about which he would say "No Thank You."

Alden learned, early in life, that a survey there "just wouldn't work out." He never did any work there, so far as this writer knows.

About 25 years ago (surprise!) that land began to get homes.

Somebody's survey seemed to be working.

Readers of the Town Crier may have noticed, in the June 15 edition, a Land Court advertisement. It concerned land off Indian Road, in that area. The Town of Wilmington, the Reading Municipal Light, and about a dozen individuals were being warned that the owner of one piece of land was contesting ownership of the land, and there would be a Land Court hearing in Lowell on the 18th of July, in which they could submit answers.

That noise you just heard was Alden, coughing in his grave.

Dear Larz:

I would like to take a few minutes to let your readers know of the outcome of the family that was being evicted by the Town of Wilmington, via board of health. Although the housing code violations were never fixed or enforced to be fixed, we were able to find a new home, although not in Wilmington where we would have preferred.

Thank you to the article that the Town Crier printed, my boys and I were offered a beautiful garden style condo in North Reading. At this time I would like to give special thanks to the following people:

Stuart Neilson and Larz Neilson for their articles in the paper; Mr. and Mrs. Seidman for their support; Tom Hamilton for his concern; Kevin McMillan for his search for a local home; Attorney Robert Scarano for his legal assistance; members of C.T.I. for their patience and cooperation; Ms. Shannon Woods for her phone work and special thanks to Representative Jim Miceli and Mr. Richard Wilson for their hard work and time.

Sincerely,
Matthew J. Cantrell

A Novel Idea Bookstore, 557 Main St., Tewksbury • 851-8312

They're just not your average book store! Deborah Landry, owner of A Novel Idea Bookstore, has found that niche in the market place that has gone unfilled in Tewksbury and Wilmington for years. The store caters to avid readers of current books, who are on a budget. They sell recycled paperbacks - pre-read, but not worn out. There is a large selection of Romance, Adventure, Historical Romance, Adventure and General Fiction by all the popular authors, including Sandra Brown, Lyverl Spencer and Danielle Steel.

The important news about this store is they sell all these books for HALF the jacket price. If you like reading these novels, you probably have a good collection at home, sitting on the shelf or in boxes. A Novel Idea will buy them! Just bring them in and receive a credit towards future purchases. They offer a 1/3 credit. Now you can read more for less!

Another area the store offers is a large selection of new children's books, from the first pre-readers to the popular Sweet Valley and Baby Sitters Club. Authors in this section include Christopher Pike and R.L.Stein. They are cooperating with the Heath Brook School in obtaining multiple copies of some books for students.

They sell the classics, too. Or is it the "Classics II" - There are books from the other side...

"The True story of the three little pigs by A. Wolf" and "The Frog Deborah Landry, owner and Janet Kelley stand amid more books than you can read in a decade - for half price.

Prince ... continued"

This is a reader's paradise, the best of all worlds, because they are open when you can go! They're open 7 days a week 10 to 8 except Sunday 12 - 5 and Sat 10 - 6. They're easy to find too. They're around the corner from Purity (facing Main St) next to the Chinese restaurant.

J & E SERVICES
Automotive Repairs / Snowplowing
619 Rear Main St., Wilmington
(508) 657-7950

If you're like most people, you're not replacing the family car as often as you used to. That may save you the expense of a new car, but having an older car often means more repairs and breakdowns.

J & E Services is a full-service automotive repair shop. Stan Hibbins, the General Manager, opened J & E Services three years ago, but he's been repairing cars for 30 years. At J & E they do the usual tune-ups and oil changes and exhaust systems, plus much more... they'll even rebuild your engine.

"When you take your car into a repair shop, it's easy to spend a lot of money," says Stan. "What gets fixed depends on how much you want to spend. Money is the bottom line."

Stan Hibbins and another mechanic check this car on the lift.

Stan will list and prioritize the repairs that are needed. He won't fix something if you don't want him to, but most of all, he "won't fix what isn't broken."

At J & E, oil changes are $18.95 (plus tax) every day. Their "lifetime exhaust" isn't just a muffler, it's everything - from converter to tail pipe. Towing services are available. And, they offer gift certificates - a perfect gift for kids, parents, or anyone with a car!

J & E Services is located at 619 Rear Main St., Wilmington (behind Plate Escape). They're open M, T, Th, F: 8-8; W: 8-6; & Sat: 8-5. After hours, leave a message on the machine!

Wilmington man charged with arson

by Jeff Nazzaro

A fire last week in a storage trailer at the Better Built Corp. on Woburn Street has resulted in the arrest of a Wilmington man.

Frank E. Ramsdell, III, of Fairfield Road, was arrested and charged with arson last week following an interrogation conducted by Police Inspector Michael Celata, Fire Chief Daniel Stewart and Firefighter Inspector Rick McClellan. According to Police Lt. Robert Spencer, Ramsdell has admitted to setting the fire.

Wilmington Engine 5, under the charge of Lt. Edward Corcoran, responded to a fire call at the Better Built Corp. early Tuesday morning, Stewart said.

Propane tanks inside the storage trailer presented a "dangerous situation," but Corcoran's crew quickly subdued the flames, according to Stewart.

A "cause and origin" investigation at the scene revealed the fire to be of a "suspicious nature." Subsequent interviews with Better Built Corp. owners and workers implicated Ramsdell, a former Better Built employee, as a suspect.

Stewart said he knows how the fire was started and believes investigators have established a motive, but withheld specific comments.

Ramsdell, 22, could face up to 10 years in state prison. The arson charge carries a maximum 2 1/2 year sentence at a state house of corrections if tried in district court.

A state indictment, however, would move the proceedings to Superior Court and implement a 10-year maximum sentence, to be served in state prison.

Committee approves new strategic plan

by Ann Marie Casey

On Wednesday, June 15, the Wilmington School Committee held a brief, yet informative meeting. The committee members focused much of their attention on the newly devised strategic plan for the Wilmington Public School System.

All committee members, as well as Superintendent Geraldine O'Donnell spoke of the importance of improving the school system.

The new strategic plan contains seven crucial components developed and revised by a strategic planning team and an action team, members of which, were appointed by the Wilmington School Committee. The plan, itself, has stemmed from a series of mission statements that outline the goals of Wilmington Public Schools. Some of the strategies that were described at the meeting include: codes of behavior; technology and curriculum; professional development of staff; and fund-raising possibilities.

Over-all, the committee was extremely impressed with this new plan. They commended the specific teams for their hard-work and dedication.

Committee member, Robert Young, summed up the thoughts of the committee when he said, "This [plan] is a great thing for the school system."

Other items on the committee's agenda included a general overview of unified grants for the town, as well as, an evaluation of the Superintendent of Schools, Geraldine O'Donnell. It was unanimously decided by the committee that Superintendent O'Donnell has done an outstanding job throughout her eighteenth month in office. All members found O'Donnell's performance to be highly satisfactory to commendable.

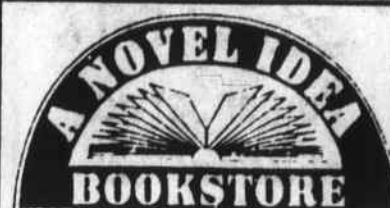

The committee's next meeting is scheduled for July 13, 1994.

COOLANT LEAKS

If you find a puddle of yellow green fluid beneath your car, the immediate suspicion should be of a coolant leak. To find the cause, raise the hood and start a visual inspection of the cooling system with a look at the hoses and clamps in the area of the radiator. If a hose has cracked through, try wrapping it with electrical tape before making an immediate trip for replacement. If a clamp is loose, try tightening it. Even then, the clamp is likely to need replacing. If a look at the hoses and clamps show nothing apparently wrong, check the radiator itself for cracks or a leaky petcock drain at the bottom of the unit. In any case, fill the radiator to replace any leaked fluid and get to an auto technician right away. Major leaks may require a tow.

You know the old saying about a band-aid solution to a bigger problem. If your car is leaking fluid, chances are you need a replacement part of some kind. Don't use electrical tape hoping it will do the job. Visit the skilled technicians at BOUDREAU'S AUTOMOTIVE SERVICE CENTER, 2184 Main St., Rt. 38. Ask us about extended warranties; often it isn't necessary to get your car serviced at the dealer. We care about our customers and it shows. We have a 22 year record of success satisfying customers in the Tewksbury area. Call us at 658-2120. Open Mon-Fri, 7-5; Sat. 8-3.

All Around Travel Update

By Peggy Lee - President/Owner

ITALY - "I CAN'T BELIEVE I'M REALLY HERE"

These words were uttered by one of our group from St. Thomas' Parish recently returned from Italy. We had been cruising along the Grande Canal, 5 gondola boats full of enthusiastic visitors, side by side, taking up the entire width of the canal while being surrounded to strains of Santa Lucia with accordion accompaniment. We made quite a sight!

Personally, I don't know what I was expecting, but I had no idea Italy was so beautiful. When we arrived at our first destination, Stresa, located just south of Switzerland in the pre-Alps, it was such a breathtaking sight and so quaint and lovely an area that we thought "It can't get any better than this." Imagine our delight when it did!

Our itinerary took us from Stresa heading east to Milan and Venice. We then headed west visiting Pisa, Sorrento, and Verona. Heading south along the coastline we visited Capri and Amalfi, stopped at Pompeii and back up to Rome. Staying two nights at each stop gave us time to visit the major sights and of course left us wanting more. Feeling so pampered and relaxed, with everything arranged for us, especially the driving, we truly didn't want to come home. The hotels were first class and located so that we could easily get out and make our way around which left us plenty of time to explore or just relax.

The shopping was wonderful! Artisans showed us how they blow Venetian Glass, create leather and gold fashions and how inlaid wood products are produced. We also enjoyed the wine and liquors made in each region and got to sample some and dunk others and bring a sample or two home.

I will cherish these memories along with all the wonderful people I came to know and who shared this special trip with us.

When you are ready to make your own memories call us at ALL AROUND TRAVEL, 203 Jefferson Rd., N. Wilmington (near of parking lot). Tel: 658-2313. Office hours 9 to 5, anytime by appt.

Up, Up and back down again! Students of the Woburn Street School in Wilmington help hold down the RE/MAX balloon at Principal Kate Conway climbs in for her trip top nowhere. The tethered rides for students whose parents were present and brave teachers was sponsored by Elaine Hoff.

Just how big is the balloon? Those dots on the ground below the balloon aren't munchkins! They are fourth and fifth graders. One could say, "That's a lot of hot air."

CPR course for health care providers

New England Memorial Hospital will offer a CPR (Level C) course designed for nurses/nursing students, doctors, dentists, EMT's and other health care providers. The two part course will be given Monday, July 18 and Monday, July 25 from 5:30 to 9 p.m.

Participants observe correct techniques and then practice on training mannequins. Those who successfully complete their class receive a one year CPR certification from the American Heart Association.

CPR classes are offered each month at New England Memorial Hospital. The next Level C course will be offered August 15 and 22.

For information or to register for these classes, call the Health Promotion Department at (617) 979-7057.

Collecting Without Worry Requires Special Insurance

Protecting your valuable possessions requires special insurance. Most regular homeowners' policies contain limitations or exclusions on coverage for certain types of personal property. At C. J. McCarthy Insurance, we can offer comprehensive coverage for all your collections, such as coins, jewelry, antiques or other high-valued items.

You should enjoy your collections and let us remove the worry of collecting on insurance, if you have a claim.

Call us at 657-5100 to learn about our special personal property insurance endorsements and policies, or come by our office.

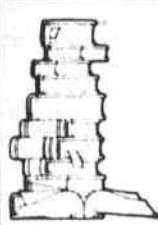

When it comes to insurance protection, get the confidence of being fully covered.

Bernie Wagstaff has a reputation for making a car last. The Wilmington resident has turned a wrench or two at his garage in North Wilmington but on this occasion he was showing off his 1954 Chevy at Cain Chrysler/Plymouth. Cains was hosting an oldies night last Friday with Oldies 103 radio. They had old cars on display from all over.

Roger Rodriguez and his students put on a display of their martial arts at Cain's Oldies Night.

After 37 years Mr. Kelley takes a bow

by Jeff Nazzaro
 In 37 years a lot has been said about Mr. Frank Kelley. In that same span, it is a safe bet that a lot more has been said by Mr. Frank Kelley. But with a man of Kelley's stature, is too much ever enough? No, unless it's June and you've heard the same bad joke three times a week since September.

Friday afternoon and again later that evening, students past and present, colleagues and town officials gathered at the Wilmington High School cafeteria to honor the man who has taught scores of Wilmington's young women and men everything from calculus to the high hurdles in 37 years as a math teacher and track coach at WHS. Though he will remain as an assistant track coach, Kelley is retiring from teaching at the close of this school year.

The honors were plentiful. State Rep. James Miceli aide Debbie Maxwell Millin presented Kelley with certificates of appreciation from Gov. William Weld and the State House of Representatives; Selectman Diane Allan bestowed thanks and honors from the board of selectmen; and School Committee Chairman Paul Palizzolo presented a certificate of appreciation on behalf of that board.

A former student read aloud an "ode to Mr. Kelley" her sister had written; another former student - Heidi Wiberg Phillips - compiled along with her husband Gary a list of Frank Kelley memories, complete with tales of loud speaker eraser assaults and bad jokes, including the epithet "you can tell a Swede, but you can't tell him much;" senior runner Jill Murphy read a letter penned by junior Kerri Casella and the girls track team; and a young man named Matt Vogel, who never thought he could be an athlete of any sort, offered a moving tribute to the man who made a athlete out of him, who inspired him to new personal strengths - to Mr. Frank Kelley.

"He has an amazingly large heart, and it touches everyone around him," he told the gathering.

But there was more. Math Department Chairman Jim Babcock and Town Manager Michael Caira both presented Kelley with Paul Revere Bowls - replicas of the award Kelley introduced for outstanding Wilmington High students. Babcock also announced the establishment of a scholarship in Kelley's name. And WHS Vice Principal Ed Woods announced that at next year's Annual Town Meeting, Wilmington voters will have the opportunity to officially rename the high school track the "Francis P. Kelley Track." Count that vote unanimous.

In the end Kelley himself rose to another in what has been a series of standing ovations to address his well-wishers.

An emotional Kelley told the gathered crowd, "It's my party and I'll cry if I want to."

If not always in words (former students can and did attest to hearing the same jokes a little more than once), Frank Kelley the man is an original of the rarest sorts. He is a man who has risen to the top of his chosen profession, who has made a positive difference and derived satisfaction in the process. Teaching mathematics and coaching high school athletics are by no means glamour professions. But for the past 37 years, Mr. Frank Kelley has done those things as well as anybody ever has.

ARE YOU PROTECTED?

by Edward H. Wilkens

WHEN TO DROP COLLISION INS.

QUESTION: Does it ever make sense to drop collision insurance on your car?

ANSWER: This type of insurance pays for accident damage to your car no matter who is at fault. The insurance company pays the repair bill over the deductible amount. Since you will never receive more than the current market value of your car, you reach a point where you might be paying a rather high premium for a small amount of coverage.

The repairs needed after a serious accident may run more than your car is worth. Take a second look at your coverage. If your car is nearing the "heap" vintage, it may make sense to reconsider collision coverage.

COLLISION INSURANCE may not make sense for cars that are old and have little salvage value.

Ticket to read begins June 27

All roads lead to Wilmington Memorial Library where a travel theme will have kids on the go all summer long as they discover that books can take them anywhere in the world when they book a "Ticket to Read." Bright red flyers will be sent home through the schools urging children to sign up for the 13th annual cooperative Summer Reading Program any Monday through Friday after summer vacation begins June 27.

In recent summers eager readers have enthusiastically participated in "Sea Summer," "Funny Summer," "Mystery Summer," and "Safari Summer" among others. This year Wilmington children will join nearly 20,000 other Massachusetts readers in a statewide reading theme, "Ticket to Read." Each participating library plans its own program based on the state's theme and uses some of the theme related materials and ideas of the state program and its sponsors. Children's Services Librarian Sarah Rueter and Assistant Children's Librarian Susan MacDonald are looking forward to hundreds of youngsters signing up for this year's summer program which just might be the biggest ever - even out of this world!

This year's reading kit will contain a colorful vehicle to decorate for the Children's Room superhighway, a "Ticket to Read" reading log and bookmark, a flying carpet bookplate, a schedule of the rubber stamps used to record library visits, an explanation of how the program works, coupons for various drawings, and several activity sheets. "Ticket to Read" kits will be available for all Wilmington children of school age, including those who have just finished kindergarten. Preschoolers will receive "Read to Me" folders and paper railroad cars to help decorate the picture book section. Their folders will have a special railroad train series of rubber stamps for keeping track of library visits.

At registration all folders will be stamped with a special "talking" rubber stamp, a train engine that will actually toot when it is applied to the folder. This special stamp will be used whenever a child first signs up for the program, whether it's the first or the last of the summer, or any day in between. The other stamps will be used only during the weeks designated in the kit.

The purpose of the summer reading program is to encourage children to have fun reading and to keep up their skills over the long summer vacation. Families are urged to make regular library visits and to read together.

The library's summer hours are Monday through Friday 9-5 and Tuesday and Thursday evenings 5-9. For more information call the Children's Department at 658-2967.

THANK YOU

This is what Wilmington Kingdom Hall looked like as it approached completion. Crews from all over New England and Canada converged on Wilmington over the weekend to build a new Kingdom Hall for the Jehovah's Witnesses. The all volunteer crews ranged from tradesmen to kitchen support to people who parked cars. Beginning Friday at 7 a.m. with only a concrete slab the quick build crew completed the project, landscaping an all, by Sunday evening. Norman Murray, one of the volunteers, likened it to an old fashioned barn raising. Murray stressed worker safety and that all work met or exceeded building codes. (photo by Ed Reynolds)

Arts Council offers voice lessons

The Wilmington Council for the Arts recently featured an article concerning the formation of a youth chorus under the direction of David Fuller.

The Arts Council will now offer private voice lessons to students of all ages. Mr. Fuller holds a masters degree in voice from the Boston Conservatory.

In conformance with its guidelines the Arts Council will offer the lessons at a very reasonable price. For more information contact Mr. Fuller at 46 Adams St., Wilmington, MA 01887, or call 508-657-5778.

Annual art exhibition June 25 & 26

Wilmington's Art Council will present its 14th annual exhibition the last week of June which precedes the Fourth of July weekend celebrated with great pizzazz each year in Wilmington.

This year's exhibition will be held on two successive days at the Arts Center: Saturday, June 25 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday, June 26 from 1 to 4 p.m. Over the years these shows have become increasingly popular; it's Old Home Week at the Art Center with present as well as former residents coming together to view professional and non-professional works and talk over old times. It's a gracious and reflective time. No admission is charged.

Of great interest is the showing of students' works who have participated in the arts classes sponsored by the council throughout the year. All work will be judged by three professional artists.

Some works may be for sale, but no commission is charged. The Arts Center is located in the old Wilmington Town Hall on Middlesex Avenue, Rt. 62, across from the Congregational Church. All are welcome - yes, children too!

The road to victory

by James Pote

Well, if it wasn't noticed on the front page, it might not be known yet, that the WHS Girls Softball team became the defending state two division champs this past Saturday afternoon. How did they get there?

They started off the tournament with easy rides over Lincoln-Sudbury and Amesbury by scores of 7-0 and 11-2 respectively. After that they blanked two more teams in Reading and Stoneham by respective scores of 1-0 and 5-0.

Last Wednesday night it was mentioned that while this newspaper was being printed, the girls will be listening to the National Anthem awaiting the start for the semi-final and Eastern Mass. championship game in Brockton against the two time defending three champs from Carver.

Once again, Wilmington blanked their bats with a 5-0 whacking. They went in to prove who the real champions were.

"I was surprised with the outcome. I expected it to be a lot closer than it was. The girls today were very nervous. I don't know why. There were never as nervous today then there are with any other game. That shows that they played a very good team," said head coach Paul Lyman.

Pitcher Adrienne Fay seemed untouchable in the first four innings. The first seven batters were retired, while she fanned four of those. All but one of the next six were retired before Fay gave up a walk. However, catcher Lisa Southmayd completed a inning ending double play as Fay struck out one batter, then Southmayd nailed the runner Kim Shorey out at second on a steal attempt.

"I felt pretty good today. My fastball was working pretty well", said pitcher Adrienne Fay.

Fay ended up with her third consecutive and fourth overall shutout of tournament play. For the season that now brings her mark up to ten (there was a mistake which said she had twelve last week). She cruised tossing a one hitter and striking out twelve batters. One uncharacterist note was that she walked six batters.

"Adrienne was mixing her pitches very well today. She kept them off balanced with her off speed pitches" expressed Lyman.

As for the other side of the coin, the offense, the girls recieved a lot of help from their usual stella defensive players.

Sophomore thirdbaseman Nicole Dussault, provided the first and game winning hit to come in with her double to drive in teammate Stacey Gillis who lead off the inning with a great at bat, while drawing a walk.

The score remained the same until the bottom of the fifth, where Dussault lead off the inning reaching on by an error. Julie Gillis was sent in to run for her, and she found herself on thirdbase on a double by Kelly O'Donnell.

Laurie Southmayd then followed with an RBI single to score Gillis, then Erin Falzone drove in O'D with a sacrifice fly to leftfield. Nancy Pote then delivered a triple down the right field line to score Southmayd to have Fay bring her home with a RBI single to make it 5-0. That was all they needed for another win to bring them to their second straight state title appearance.

Catherine Townsend unloads a pitch during a tournament for the Wilmington 14-under A.S.A Softball team which was held this past weekend in Binghamton, New York where the girls took two victories out of five games in a very tough tournament. (Photo by James Pote).

Last year when the girls won their first ever State Championship, Lisa Southmayd couldn't believe the excitement as she watched from the stands. She said after the game she gave her sister Laurie a congratulated hug. Now they were able to give each other a victory hug after they both were big contributors to this years Division II State Tournament Champions. Teammates Jacqui Hayden and Jill Lojek look on. ARE YOU A WEEKEND ATHLETE?

Now that the good weather has arrived we are all more active. There are a few things we need to remember in order to avoid injury:

- 1) Warm up exercises help prepare muscles for activity
- 2) Know your limitations - don't be a hero

If an injury should occur, remember this simple rule:

R - Rest - stop the activity immediately!

I - Ice - cold packs will constrict blood vessels and control swelling

C - Compression - apply an ace bandage to the injured area.

E - Elevate - raise the limb.

If the discomfort is severe or continues, seek professional help.

A Prayer to the Blessed Virgin
(Never found to fail)
O Most beautiful Flower of Mount Carmel,
Fruitful Vine, Splendour of Heaven, Blessed
Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate
Virgin, assist me in this my necessity. O
Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein
you are my Mother.
O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart, to succour me in this necessity; there are none that can withstand your power.
O, show me herein you are my Mother. O
Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to Thee. (3 times)
Sweet Mother, I place this cause in your hands. (3 times)

What's the next step for Girls Softball team?

by James Pote
On Saturday, the Wilmington High School girls softball team won their second consecutive division two state championship. That feat has never been accomplished at WHS. You could call it simple destiny, but this is a great team, loaded with talent, depth and inspired coaching.

How did they do it? Was it luck? Destiny? Which team was better? This year's or last year's? Only a few people know all of those answers. I'm one of those lucky few.

First of all, let's compare the two teams. Both teams success came on the shoulders of the defense - especially up the middle.

Adrienne Fay led the team from the mound, compiling a whopping 21-2 record in 1993 and a 23-1 record in 1994. What made her such a great pitcher was her ability to get off the mound. She is a terrific fielding pitcher who helped her own cause tremendously with the leather.

But this year, Adrienne's pitching was much different. Last year she relied more on the fastball and an occasional change-up. This year she relied on three pitches: her fastball, change-up and drop off. The majority of her pitches were still the old number one, but the latter part of the season she was mixing up her pitches very well.

Another reason why she was so effective was the experience factor. Seeing the teams and the batters once again gives another advantage of what pitches to throw and where to throw them.

Last year, Adrienne threw to Carrie Tarantino. Tarantino sat out the 1992 season with a knee injury that forced natural second baseman Nancy Pote into catching duties. Tarantino came back in '93 with a vengeance with both her bat and her glove. The biggest part of her game was constant two-out base hits and her arm which threw out many would-be base stealers.

This year, freshman Lisa Southmayd took over the job behind the plate. While she led the team with a .392 batting average, most of her notoriety came from her ability to block the plate, which became very valuable in a lot of games. Lisa's arm was just as solid as her predecessor's, but Southmayd took a lot more chances with pick-offs, throwing down to the certain bases with frequency during the games. It worked more often than not.

Next travel to second base. Nancy Pote again was stellar. Last year was her first at the position, and this year gave her more time to adapt to that spot. This year, Nancy came up with many glamorous plays. Also this year, she too took a lot more chances on trying to pick-off runners she thought took too large of turns around a base. Like Southmayd, she too nailed a solid number of runners on pick-off plays.

Last year Pote batted in the number two spot. This year she was moved to the third spot in the batting order. Last year she was relied on more for bunts and less for RBI's. This season she continued the former trend while driving in 19 teammates in 26 games.

Her double play partner, Laurie Southmayd, was once again very solid both offensively and defensively. For the past two seasons she has led off the batting order. With Fay leaving, look for Southmayd to supply the power out of the fourth spot next year while sophomore Leanne Harris goes to the lead-off position.

Laurie finished among the team leaders in many offensive categories. She was second in hits with 30, first in triples with five, tied with two others with two home runs; she led the team with 15 walks and had an amazing on-base percentage of .523. Then again, looking at these stats it would probably be nonsense to move her out of that lead-off spot.

Once again, Southmayd shined at shortstop with her amazing ranging ability. Her experience as a three-year starter is a help to her defensive success, while she was also one of the co-captains on this year's team as a junior.

Finally for the middle tandem is Leanne Harris. As a freshmen last year Harris started off slow on the offensive side. By the end of the year, she was one of the top batters for Wilmington. She accomplished that again this season, batting .357, good for third on the team.

Leanne was tied for second on the team in hits with 30 while leading the team with seven stolen bases and five sacrifice bunts. Her ability to run has helped her out tremendously, and she still has two more years ahead of her to get more experience and improve even more.

Going back to last year, Wilmington lost a few very talented players.

First was left-fielder Nicole Ouellette, who ended up playing on two different softball championship teams in Wilmington and with five time division one champs Bishop Fenwick.

Nicole provided everything. Her defense improved every game, her offense was solid and, most of all, her leadership was a winner, with many of her teammates looking up to her.

This year Erin Falzone took over in left field. Erin provided a solid .302 batting average. Her ability to run up the batters box and slap at the ball to reach base was another big factor for the Wildcats.

In right field, the girls lost two players who combined on a solid tandem. Leanne Tarantino was in there for her offensive game on last year's club, while either Renée Vachon or current player Jacqui Hayden came in for the late defensive change. Tarantino graduated, while Vachon didn't go out for the team.

This year was basically the same approach, with Kellie O'Donnell and Jacqui Hayden making up the platoon. "O'D" was in there for her bat, which provided a lot of sorely needed spark in the bottom of the order. Hayden came in for the defensive part of the game coming up with solid catches and she also had a great mental approach to the game.

Both corners of Nicole Dussault at third and Jacqui Holloway at first were the same as last year. However, this year was more of a platoon for Holloway, with Lindsay Currier seeing more action at first. Currier is hoping to become the number one pitcher next year, a post she held in 1992.

That brings us back to the pitcher's mound. Fay will be missed very much but there is no need to panic. There are many options for Coach Paul Lyman for next year's team who will be seeking their third straight division two title.

Currier hopes to make the jump back to the number one pitcher in 1995. Currier is faster than Fay, but needs to improve her control.

Kelly Landers is a sophomore right now and she came on to pitch two innings in a game against Billerica this season. If she improves on her fielding play and limiting her walks she could also help out largely next year.

Another option is current freshman Amy Surran, who also needs to improve on her control.

Then there is current eighth grader Catherine Townsend. She is currently pitching for the under-14 Wilmington A.S.A. team. A little more speed, coaching tips and most of all experience will give her a good shot at being a solid pitcher for the next four years.

Finally, there is the option of Lisa Southmayd moving to the mound from behind the plate. In her two innings this season, Lisa was very impressive. However, if she is removed, then Nicole Dussault, who is a solid defensive third baseman, will go to her second position behind the plate, which then leaves a big hole with no one at third base.

Comparing last year's team to this year's team is a hard thing to figure out. On paper, I believe last year's team was stronger. Nicole Ouellette was a devastating loss. Carrie and Leanne Tarantino also brought big power and great arms with them.

But this year's team is probably better because of their experience. Not only with their bats, gloves and leadership but their experience of what it took to be the winners in those 1-0 games and how to bury the hatchet on those last inning comebacks.

It is very hard to determine which team is better, but who cares? They're both champs. And if someone can just throw strikes next year, we might be looking at a threepeat - especially since the other eight fielders will be returning.

Richie Rapolli and Larry Cushing went deep for Rocco's so they could cruise pass yet another victim.

Jimmy Rapolli, Chuck Duggan and Joe Franchesi all had multiple hits to help out in the winning effort.

Mike Griffen also took one deep for the struggling Stelio's team.

Rocco's 20
Charlies Auto Body 4

It was Rocco's turn once again to demolish another team as their bats continue to trounce the ball in every which way.

Richie Rapolli and Mike Herra took pitches deep, while teammate Paul Velardo pulled out an inside the park grand slam to open the flood gates.

Teammates, Chuck Duggan, Bill Naimo, Rob Ferguson and Bill Wallace also contributed with two hits each for Rocco's.

Peter Brown smacked a three run homer for his second tater of the week.

World Cup fever grips Boston

By KEN MAGUIRE

"Futbol" may not be the most popular sport throughout the United States, but you wouldn't know it in the Middlesex East area, where World Cup fever has taken hold.

Thousands of soccer enthusiasts, the majority of whom are kids, descended upon Foxboro Stadium early Tuesday morning for the opening round games of the World Cup.

Critics say the soccer is too boring to watch, as many games are low scoring. Proponents rebut that strategy and solid defense can be just as exciting if the American spectator would take the time to learn about the sport.

On any spring, summer or fall afternoon in the Middlesex East area, it's a good bet that you will find a soccer game in progress at Walsh Field in Wakefield, Skillings Field in Winchester, Leland Park in Woburn, or Maguire Field in North Reading, just to name a few. Soccer's popularity among kids has knocked Pop Warner football into the back seat. Many towns have been forced to merge their Pop Warner programs because of growing interest in soccer.

World Cup-caliber soccer actually made its way to local turf a few weeks ago. Cup contender South Korea lost an exhibition match against Ecuador on Landrigan Field by Wakefield High School.

Last weekend's World Cup match between Ireland and Italy drew huge interest in the area. Thousands of Ireland and Italy natives live locally, as do many more thousands of first, second and third generation Irish- and Italian-Americans.

The Irish win, by a score of 1-0, was payback for the reverse score in 1990's World Cup. North Reading's Gerry Fitzgerald, who bleeds green he's so Irish, couldn't make it to the Meadowlands in New Jersey to see the game in person, but watched it on television.

"I haven't heard from any of my Italian friends since the game," joked Fitzgerald, a former president of the North Reading Soccer League. "Ireland looked strong. They've got a good mixture of young and old. They're in good shape for the second round."

Ireland next faces Mexico in Orlando, Florida Friday afternoon. The southern site favors Mexico, which should have overwhelming fan support. Such was the case for the Irish in New Jersey. An estimated 90 percent of the 75,000 fans in the Meadowlands to watch the Ireland-Italy game were Irish.

For Fitzgerald and many other Irish fans, World Cup tickets were purchased for the Foxboro site in anticipation of Ireland playing there. Instead, the team from the Emerald Isle was sent to the toxic shores of the Garden State.

"Most of the people who bought tickets for Foxboro thought Ireland would play there," Fitzgerald said. But he can't complain, he figures, because Ireland is a solid World Cup team, unlike arch-rival England, which failed to qualify for the Cup this time around.

Soccer dominates the sports scene is just about every other country in the world. That includes Greece, homeland of Chris Shomos, who owns Square Liquors in Reading.

"I came over (to the United States) in 1967 and all I knew for sports was soccer," Shomos said Tuesday as Greece was preparing to play Argentina. "In Greece, soccer is the national sport."

At presstime, Argentina was leading Greece by a score of 2-0. With the lead, the Argentinians, led by superstar Diego Maradona, will be tough to beat. "I don't think the chances are good that they'll win," Shomos said. "But if they draw a tie with Argentina, that would be considered the same as a win. A tie

About The Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

Car four, where are you?

Police Department is hit

The Police Department was the casualty at Burlington's annual Town Meeting, according to the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

Instead of receiving four cruisers at a cost of $68,960 as initially requested, it received three at $51,720.

According to Burlington Police Chief William Soda, the force has 11 marked cruisers and other vehicles such as the DARE car, a car for the youth services officer, three unmarked cars (two detective and one drug), a prisoner transport vehicle, and a car for the safety officer.

According to Lt. Francis Hart, the Burlington police respond to 12,000 calls yearly.

Health field expands and contracts

In an effort to save money and follow a statewide trend in the area of municipal services, Stoneham and Reading have entered into a joint services agreement resulting in the sharing of a health inspector.

The sharing begins on July 1st and will last for three years, subject to Town Meeting funding, according to the Stoneham "Independent."

According to the agreement, the Reading Health Inspector-Sealer of Weights and Measures will work an average of 12 hours per week in Stoneham, primarily completing inspections. Stoneham will pay the Reading inspector $19.38 an hour in fiscal year 1994.

Stoneham Board of Health Chair Michael Rolli was surprised the agreement required only 12 hours per week. He had expected 15 and now expects to be understaffed. He had also thought the inspector would be reporting to the Board of Health rather than the town administrator although the Board of Health would be responsible for directing the Reading inspector as to enforcement proceedings and the development and application of regulatory and enforcement policies.

The board wanted the inspector to work at least three hours a day Monday through Friday, and do the following: make two routine inspections per year at each licensed food establishment; respond to all consumer complaints including food, housing and solid waste issues; perform inspections for all licensed public and semi-public swimming pools; perform plan reviews for new and extensively renovated food service establishments; and inspect and seal all weighing and measuring devices as required by state law.

The agreement was scheduled for discussion last night, so something could have changed already.

Transportation center is on the move

According to State Representative Carol Donovan (D-Woburn), the House-approved state transportation bond encompasses a host of state projects, including $9.9 million for the proposed Woburn Transportation Center.

The proposed complex includes an MBTA commuter rail connection in Woburn at the Reading line, just west of I-93.

The bill calls for funding from the Massachusetts Port Authority ($3.3 million); the state ($3.3 million) and the MBTA ($3.3 million).

There has been much activity recently at the Industri-Plex 128 Superfund site, a nationally-known and designated toxic waste site. Federal, state and local officials have placed a high priority on bringing the property back on line for development which includes the massive transportation center, according to the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

Officials feel that the parking area will be a major step toward the elimination of traffic into Boston during construction. The project would also count as part of the state's efforts toward meeting Clean Air Act requirements and could be approved by July 1.

Next steps include the Mass. Senate and a Conference Committee - according to state officials, the project is on a fast track with a "big dig" scheduled in Boston in late 1995 or '96.

Couples Club road race

The 27th running of the annual Lynnfield Couples Club Road Race will take place on Saturday, July 2, starting at 9 a.m.

Last year, 145 runners covered the 3.8 mile course that starts at the Lynnfield Middle School. Joel Rich of Marblehead finished first with a time of 19:27. Janice Smaga led the women runners with a time of 25:53.

This year's first place finisher in both the men's and women's division will be awarded a trophy named in memory of the late Steve Cleary. Cleary, who helped coordinate the race for the past several years, passed away tragically last December.

IRS tax examination

Applications are now available from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) for tax practitioners who wish to take the annual IRS tax examination.

Tax practitioners who wish to take the Special Enrollment Examination must have their applications postmarked no later than August 1, 1994.

The examination fee is $45 for persons who took and passed part of the examination last year. The fee for those taking the complete exam is $55. Last year, 9,000 persons applied to take the examination.

This year, the Special Enrollment Examination is scheduled to be held at the Tip O'Neill Building, 10 Causeway Street on September 29 and 30.

Do you know if you or someone you know is in an abusive or violent relationship?

Abuse and battering can take on many forms.

Does your partner or husband call you names, blame you, swear at you, humiliate you, intimidate you, twist your words, not listen, put you down in front of friends or family, lie to you, cheat on you, is jealous or possessive, refuse to help with the housework or child care, insist on always being right, not respect you, interfere with your work, prevent you from working, take your paycheck, refuse to give you money, abuse alcohol or other substances, threaten suicide, prevent you from calling or visiting friends or family, follow you, or check up on you? If you answered yes to any of these behaviors, you are a victim of verbal, emotional, mental and/or economic abuse.

Does your partner or husband make threatening gestures, drive recklessly with you in the car, keep you from leaving by blocking a doorway, punch walls, break things, harm your pets, threaten you, use force, threats or coercion to obtain sex, not listen to "no", slap you, punch you, kick you, push you (or your children), use or threaten to use weapons, burn you, choke you, keep weapons to frighten you, threaten or attempt to kill you or those you love? Are you frightened of your partner or husband's anger? If you answered yes to any of these behaviors, you are a victim of battering.

Services Against Family Violence is here for you. We are a Counseling and Advocacy program for abused and battered women and their children.

Call us, we'll listen. (617) 324-2221

"Lock in a mortgage rate while you shop."

The typical house-hunt goes like this:

You find the house of your dreams. Sign the deal. Then you secure a mortgage—hoping that rates don't edge up and that you qualify for a big enough loan.

At Cambridge Savings Bank, our "Rate Lock While You Shop" is a better way to house-hunt.

Lock in a rate.

Before you shop for a house, talk to us and we'll lock in your rate for 30 days. If rates go up, you're protected. If rates go down, you get the lower rate. Once you submit your application, your rate is then locked in through closing.

Lock in a rate for 30 days while you shop.

Pre-qualify for a loan amount and relax.

Find the house of your dreams.

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

Woodchips congratulates all recent graduates who have received "BS," "BA," "PhD," "LLD," "MBA" etc. degrees. Almost everyone knows what an educated brain is. It's a person who has earned a college or university degree. Not many however know what an "educated heart" is. It's a person who knows something good about another person and says it!

I failed the entrance exam at MIT. I couldn't open the front door... Jimmy Quinno invited me up to his house for dinner. I was eating when I noticed Jimmy's Labrador Retriever looking at me kind of funny. "Hey Jimmy," I said, "why is that mutt of yours looking at me that way?" "I really don't know," Jimmy replied, "maybe it's because you have the same plate he generally eats from."

George Guyette drove his Harley Davidson Motorcycle into a diner's parking lot in North Reading, walked in, and told the waitress, "A cup of coffee, two donuts and some grid-dle cakes, please." She shouted to the short-order cook, "Motor oil, two non-skids and an order of blow-out patches!"

If anyone doesn't know the meaning of the word "irony" the following Chip should explain it. The late John "Red" Moran was the president of the Charlestown and Boston Longshoreman's Union. He fought tooth and nail for years not to allow container ships to come into the port of Boston. (He feared it would jeopardize the jobs of longshoremen and stevedores.) But alas, a multimillion dollar container terminal was built when John passed away and the "irony" of it all, it was named for the late John "Red" Moran.

My Uncle John Shea called up his bosom friend, Rowan Fitzgerald, on the phone and asked to borrow a hundred dollars. "What did you say?" Rowan asked. "I said, I want to borrow a hundred dollars." "I can't hear a word you're saying," Rowan shouted. The operator cut in and said, "Sir, there isn't anything wrong with your phone connection. I can hear your party perfectly." "Is that so?" Rowan replied, "then I suggest you give that creep the hundred dollars!"

I wanted to cash a check and Janet Mugford, the bank teller, asked, "Can you identify yourself?" "Sure," I said, "have you got a mirror?" She took one out of her purse, gave it to me and said, "Look into it and don't break it."

Wayne Higden of Burlington asked a farmer in New Hampshire, "Can you please tell me how far it is to the nearest gasoline station?" "A-Ya," he replied, "It's, I reckon, about one mile as the crow flies." "How far is it," Wayne asked, "for a guy with a lame back wheeling a flat tire?"

The teacher asked Richie Hamel of Winchester, "Can you tell the class where the English Channel is?" "I don't know, Miss Sullivan, we can't get that channel on the TV in my house."... Paul Simon of Stoneham stopped at a diner in North Conway, ordered a cup of coffee and a donut, read the house paper, took five napkins to clean the car's windshield, availed himself of two free books of matches, then asked the owner, "What's the speed limit in this one hoss town?" "There ain't any," exclaimed the owner, "Freeloaders like you can't get out of town fast enough to suit me!"

The Navy instructor at the Great Lakes Training Station shouted to Jimmy Corbett (who was standing on a platform 15 feet above the water), "Jump sailor!" Jimmy just stood there, afraid to jump. The instructor asked, "If you were standing this high on a ship that was sinking, wouldn't you jump?" "No sir," Jimmy replied, "I'd wait until the ship sank 10 more feet, then I'd jump!"

HOSPICE CARE OFFERS "STEPPING STONES"

Hospice Care, Inc. is sponsoring its fourth camp for grieving children and their families. The highly successful program "Stepping Stones" will be held on July 22 through July 24 at Camp Lydon on Cape Cod. The camp is open to children age 6 to 17 and their families who have experienced a loss by death of sibling, parent, grandparent or close friend.

"Stepping Stones" will offer an opportunity for grieving children to express and share their feelings with others who have had a similar experience. The camp will include arts and crafts, games, discussions relating to grief, and a memorial campfire service. This will encourage children to express their feelings and ask questions without the fear of pain, embarrassment or denial. It will allow the expression of grief while having fun. There will be a concurrent group for parents.

For additional information and registration call Trudy

Regan, Hospice Care, Inc. at (617) 648-3172.

EYE SCREENING FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

GAIN CONTROL NOT WEIGHT

The North Suburban Family YMCA now offers Weight Management Consulting by appointment to both members and non-members of the YMCA.

Jennifer Klein, a YMCA Certified Weight Management Instructor, AFAA Certified Personal Trainer and Certified Aerobics Instructor, will teach the valuable tools to help lose weight and more importantly keep it off. Because of her own personal weight loss experience she can relate well to people who are struggling to lose weight. "I enjoy working with individuals helping them to achieve their weight loss goals."

The one-on-one sessions last for an hour; within that hour persons will learn a number of valuable techniques. They will learn how to change negative eating habits while reinforcing the positive ones.

For more information call Jennifer Klein at (617) 944-2909 or stop by the North Suburban Family YMCA.

SUMMER SHOREBIRDS AT PLUM ISLAND

Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary is offering a birding trip for adults to Plum Island on Sunday, June 26, 6:30 to 10:30 a.m. (rain date: Sunday, July 3). Participants will look for a variety of shorebirds, including dowitchers, yellowlegs, sandpipers, egrets, terns and willets.

Pre-registration is required. Fee: $10 ($8/Massachusetts Audubon members). For more information call (508) 887-9264.

five years old he locked himself in the bathroom. Louise, his mother, pleaded with him to come out but he just wouldn't so she called the fire department for assistance. Capt. Kevin O'Hara responded with two firefighters. Kevin knocked on the door and in a calm but stern voice said, "This is Capt. O'Hara speaking. Unlock the door and come out little girl." The door instantly flew open and out stormed little Ryan with fire in his eyes. He kicked Capt. O'Hara in the shins, then shouted, "I'm not a little girl, I'm a big boy!" Capt. O'Hara turned to a much relieved mother and said, "It works every time, Ma'am."

My Aunt Nora asked the floor walker in a department store, "Mister, will you please tell me where I can find the Johnson's baby powder?" "Yes Ma'am," the genial floor walker replied, "It's three aisles over - please

I know summer is here at last. My neighbor Paul Rao just returned my snow shovel and borrowed my lawn mower... I remember when bank teller Janet Mugford told a man wearing cowboy boots and a ten gallon hat, "I'm sorry Tex, but your wife just beat you to the 'draw'."

School Notes

It's unanimous in Stoneham

Stoneham approves budget cuts

"With surprisingly little debate," the Stoneham School Committee has unanimously approved Superintendent William Hoyt's plan to reconcile the school department's fiscal 1995 budget with the May Town Meeting appropriation, according to the Stoneham "Independent."

The Town Meeting budget was more than $800,000 short of what Hoyt and the school committee wanted, resulting in a plan which includes cuts in expenditures for substitute teachers, technology equipment, health benefits, new textbooks, freshman athletics, and English as a Second Language tutors.

The majority of cuts, however, come from the salary budget which will force the elimination of regular and special education positions, remedial reading teachers, a library assistant, all freshman sports coaches, a clerical position, and the 4.0 academic team from grades six to eight.

It had been expected that cutting the remedial reading teachers and academic team approach would receive the most opposition from the committee, but according to the "Independent," the major concern by board members seemed to be the plan to delay filling the Supervisor of Science position being vacated at the high school.

Adopt-a-Class does breakfast

At a recent Burlington Community Scholarship Foundation breakfast, the following representatives were presented special awards for their companies' participation in Burlington's Adopt-a-Class program: Ernie DeMartino of Cablevision; Dan Gibson and Nancy Jones of Gibson and Behman; Joan Miles, president of BCSF; Neil King of Vining Disposal; Brian Curtin and Connie Rapucci of Phillips and Curtin; and George Major and Joe Keohane of Somerset Bank.

Munnely applies for early retirement

Reading Superintendent of Schools Dr. Robert Munnely has applied for early retirement and is confident that he will be accepted, according to the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

June 30th is the deadline for all ERI applications.

School councils report in -

...all members of the school community - staff, children and parents learn together in an environment in which each person feels safe, respected and challenged: that's a "community of learners," according to Winchester Ambrose Elementary School Principal Richard Rogers in the Ambrose school improvement report, part of the school improvement plan developed by the Ambrose School Council as part of the Education Reform Act.

The next step, according to Rogers in the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle" is to become a community of leaders.

The council, then, has embarked on a mission to "incorporate leadership and learning into a long-range plan centered around three core values: promoting child and teacher individuality; promoting a strong sense of community; and valuing continuous learning and growth."

To achieve individuality, the report suggests promoting an awareness of and appreciation of diversity within the school; creating a curriculum to meet the needs of all learners; and developing student assessments which analyze student progress.

To promote community, the report cites the importance of fostering family and community partnerships; promoting responsibility and teamwork; and respecting adults, peers, community and property.

To foster the "burning issue" of continuous learning and growth, the report suggests both long-term and short-term goals be associated with a "keeper" or special experience which will stay with a student long after school gets out in June. "Each year," says Rogers, in the "Times Chronicle," "we want the student to have a strong sense of accomplishment from a special project, experiment or activity that they'll always remember."

School Council Co-Chair Louise Sawyer emphasized the importance of continued training and growth for the 10 council members during the years ahead; and the importance of coordinating all councils and keeping open communication between them. The goals developed this year aim to promote "learning that is child-centered, active, open-ended, challenging, and fun." They include expanding learning experiences beyond the classroom, such as intensifying cross-grade learning efforts; expanding a student's connection with the community through mentor programs; and expanding family experiences such as Family Math Night.

If you'd like to read about your favorite school, student or teacher in "School Notes," please send school newsletters and other relevant information to Phyllis Nissen, "School Notes," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

"Wolf" Short Takes

by Rochelle Flynn

The best thing about the "Wolf" is that it walks away from our collective preconceptions about werewolf movies. The flipside of such creativity is that director Mike Nichols does a little backsliding into familiar territory just before the film ends.

There are no silver bullets, no discussions as to the merits of wolfsbane. Instead, we are asked to consider what might happen if a kindly, intelligent, gentlemanly book editor were bitten by a wolf while in Vermont. Within days of returning to Manhattan, Jack Nicholson begins a Kafka-esque metamorphosis that literally brings out the animal in him.

The twist here is that writers Jim Harrison and Wesley Strick (plus an uncredited Elaine May) didn't just whip up an occult thriller. Instead, they tell us you really can't change the nature of the beast; what you become depends on what you are. Until the movie dissolves into a MICHELLE PFEIFFER and Jack Nicholson star in "Wolf," a Columbia Pictures Release.

Hollywood horrorfest, there is plenty to chew on intellectually, a rarity for the genre.

Much of this story is urbane and sophisticated. The humor is as dry as it is clever. Nicholson's small publishing company has just been swallowed by a conglomerate and he is about to quietly roll over for his smarmy protege, an intriguingly cloying James Spader.

As Nicholson begins to change, he becomes stronger, more alert. Not only does he transform physically, but he becomes more cunning, providing us with a prickly metaphor about the urban jungle and survival of the fittest. Nicholson reigned himself in for the role, there is nothing cartoony or over-the-top about his performance. In fact, Nichols coaxed a rich performance from Nicholson, who is at once wary and exhilarated by his new abilities.

Into this emotional maelstrom strolls Michelle Pfeiffer, the psychically damaged daughter of Nicholson's new boss (Christopher Plummer). A woman with a history of pain and disillusionment, she is drawn to Nicholson's burgeoning power and sexuality, as well as his increasing distance from mankind. His edgy existence is something Pfeiffer understands, as humanity hasn't brought her a great deal of happiness.

Director Nichols' vision has given us a thinking person's horror flick that is at once Freudian nightmare and sheer entertainment. The ending, with its nod to convention, somewhat weakens this heady brew, but it can't take the sting from this "Wolf" bite.

Short Takes

Getting Even with Dad is the perfect title for any kid who manages to drag his folks to this prefab of a flick. Macaulay Culkin is the brainy pre-teen who outsmarts his thieving father (Ted Danson) and dad's dum-dum cohorts. Glenne Headly, the only real actor in the production, is the kindly cop who establishes a romance with prime suspect Danson. Trying too hard to be both hilarious and sentimental, this manages to be neither. Rated PG. *1/2

Contest rules are as follows: vote for both your favorite flavor bagel and bagel spot, preferably in the greater Middlesex East area. Yes, to those who asked, Chelsea could be considered to be within the area.

We do appreciate all your comments. Having seen some of your efforts during the past week, we especially welcome more entries from the many comedians and cartoonists who seem to have found homes in the immediate area.

Eligibility for prizes goes like this: If your favorite bagel is among those picked by a majority of readers, your entry will be thrown into a bag with similar entries, and if it is drawn from that bag, you win the "you must have great taste" award of $50.

of the draw - and if you think you can figure out the obvious winners, think again. The first day of the contest alone brought in nominations for eight types of bagels and seven bagel spots.

If you choose everyone's favorite bagel at everyone's favorite bagel spot, you win a chance at the grand "greatest taste of all" unprecedented $100 award (only one prize per person).

Send your official ballot to Bagel Contest, Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867. All entries must be on the original forms and must be received by July 8th.

APRs are the result of a survey of 12 area banks on June 17, 1994. MASSBANK's APR applies to loans for 1-4 family owner-occupied property and condominiums. Minimum downpayment: 20% for 1-4 family owner-occupied property, 30% for condominiums. Typical Financing: On a $100,000 mortgage with 20% downpayment plus payment of 1 point at 7.54% APR for 15 years monthly principal and interest payment would be $919.93 plus taxes and insurance.
